

A Vital Mission

The Aquarium of the Pacific is the key voice and storyteller for the Pacific Ocean, with a mission to instill a sense of wonder, respect, and stewardship for the Pacific Ocean, its inhabitants, and ecosystems. Beyond our world-class animal exhibits, including 11,000 animals in 50 exhibits, the Aquarium is involved in numerous conservation efforts, including sustainable seafood, watershed education, ocean literacy, endangered species recovery, and more.

Community Connections

Each year the Aquarium is visited by 1.6 million visitors from throughout Southern California, and beyond. Our goal is to foster an ocean literate public equipped to make informed decisions and take appropriate actions to ensure the future health of the ocean, its ecosystems, and its resources.

Innovative Education

Nearly 200,000 students, teachers, and community members from throughout Southern California visit the Aquarium and participate in our education programs each year. Almost 60% of these are underserved (Title I) schools. By creating a place where children are inspired and their love of science is nurtured, the Aquarium builds a foundation for greater self-confidence in a formal education environment.

Lifelong Learning

Through Aquatic Forums and Aquatic Academy courses, we bring together scientists, educators, and community leaders to transform how Californians engage in science learning and create a more conscious, connected, and informed society of environmental stewards.
